Frontier Airlines Launches New Service from Columbus Nonstop service to Kansas City begins May 3

DENVER (May 3, 2010) – Frontier Airlines, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Republic Airways Holdings, Inc. (NASDAQ: RJET), today launched new nonstop service from Port Columbus International Airport (CMH) to Kansas City, Mo. (MCI). This service is part of a significant period of growth for the Denver-based carrier, which is growing by 7 percent in seat miles this year, making it the fastest-growing major airline in the United States and complements existing service offered by Frontier from Columbus to Milwaukee.

“This is a very exciting time for us at Frontier Airlines,” said Daniel Shurz, vice president of strategy and planning. “This new service from Columbus is part of a 17-market expansion taking place this spring and summer. In conjunction with the integration of Frontier and Midwest Airlines into one carrier, operating under the Frontier Airlines name, our customers in Columbus can now enjoy even more destinations, affordable fares, and an unmatched customer service experience.”

“We are thrilled that Frontier Airlines is now providing nonstop service to Kansas City,” said Elaine Roberts, President and CEO of the Columbus Regional Airport Authority. “Frontier is an important partner in fulfilling our mission to offer high-quality, affordable air service for Central Ohio, and we very much appreciate their investment and presence at Port Columbus.”

On April 13, Republic Airways Holdings, Inc. announced that Frontier Airlines would be the face of its branded operation, combining Frontier and Midwest Airlines into one carrier. Although all flights can now be purchased at FrontierAirlines.com, Frontier and Midwest will continue to integrate technology over the next six to nine months and during this time period customers are reminded to continue checking in with the operating airline for their flight.
